

CR 27/2017

April 20, 2017

Confidential Information

New communication channel of CI Games S.A.

The Management Board of CI Games S.A. with its registered office in Warsaw (“Company”) hereby informs, that on April 20, 2017, the Company launches a blog for investors, available at the following address: <http://blog.cigames.com>.

The Management Board decided to launch the abovementioned dedicated channel, especially for shareholders, investors and potential investors of the Company and also for all looking for reliable information on the Company, due to the present and growing in the last weeks phenomenon observed in the electronic media of distribution of inaccurate information on the Company which mislead or may mislead shareholders, investors, potential investors and customers of the Company.

The said blog, according to the Management Board, will be a reliable source of information on the Company, complimentary as compared with the channel used for statutory information requirement of issuers and the already used tools for investor relations information transfer.

This information is considered confidential due to its importance for the Company, in particular due to its importance for Company’s information policy.

Marek Tymiński – President of the Issuer’s Management Board